

Short CV

Gerald E. Sacks

Department of Mathematics
Harvard University
617-495-4825
Science Center
One Oxford Street
Cambridge MA 02138

sacks@math.harvard.edu

Educational and professional record

Ph.D. in Mathematics, Cornell University	1961
A.M. (honorary), Harvard University	1974
Institute for Advanced Study (Princeton)	1961-62, 74-75
Assistant and Associate Professor, Cornell University	1962-67
Professor, Massachusetts Institute of Technology	1967 - 2006
Professor, Harvard University	1972 - present
Guggenheim Fellow	1966-67
Senior Fulbright-Hayes Scholar	1979
Fellow, California Institute of Technology	1983-84
Visiting Professor, University of Chicago	1988-89

Doctoral Students

Directed 28 Ph.D. theses since 1965.

Among them are: Lenore Blum (Carnegie-Mellon), Sy Friedman (Vienna), Harvey Friedman (Ohio State), L. Harrington (Berkeley), S. Homer (Boston University), R. W. Robinson (University of Georgia), R. Shore (Cornell University), S. Simpson (Penn State) and T. Slaman (Berkeley).

Most recent students:	Jessica Young,	M.I.T. Ph.D. 2001
	Nate Ackerman,	M.I.T. Ph.D. 2006
	Alice Chan,	M.I.T. Ph.D. 2006
	Christina Goddard,	M.I.T. Ph.D. 2006
Current student:	Cameron Freer	Harvard University

Other Activities

Chairman of the committee to select logic speakers for the International Congress of Mathematicians, Helsinki, 1978.

Member, organizing committee, 1982 AMS Summer Institute in Recursion Theory.

Co-organizer of Recursion Theory Week, Oberwolfach, April 1984 and March 1989.

Chairman, awards and prizes, Association for Symbolic Logic, 1988-91.

Organizer of the Greater Boston Logic Conference at MIT, May 2001, 2003, 2006 .